Summary

NHS Leeds North Clinical Commissioning Group, NHS Leeds West Clinical Commissioning Group and NHS Leeds South and East Clinical Commissioning Group work together to manage the complaints process and are referred to as 'the CCG' within this document.

The CCG is firmly committed to continuously improving the quality of services it provides or commissions by understanding the experiences of people accessing those services. Commissioned services are those that are paid for by the CCG but provided by other organisations such as acute hospitals, community care and any other providers. The CCG understands that in order to continue to make improvements, it is essential to encourage, value, engage with and learn from all types of feedback. Therefore the CCG takes a proactive approach to handling complaints, concerns, comments and compliments as a genuine means to improving the experiences of patients and the quality of its services.

This policy incorporates the CCG's obligations in the NHS Constitution and the Health and Social Care Act and responds to a number of key reports, guidelines and legislations which relate to the handling of complaints.

This policy ensures that complaints are always:

- Actively encouraged, and that people know how to complain
- Taken seriously and responded to promptly
- Investigated thoroughly and proportionately
- Utilised as an opportunity to learn and improve

The CCG will:

- Ensure that this policy promotes a consistent and fair process for handling complaints
- Ensure that it is easy for people to raise feedback, and that the complaints process is accessible for all
- Implement systems for monitoring, reporting and sharing information regarding complaints across the CCG, including lessons learned from complaints.

1 Introduction

The CCG is committed to providing service users, their family members, carers or members of the public with the opportunity to seek advice, raise concerns or compliments and formal complaints about the CCG and its services. The CCG has adopted a person centred approach to ensure that issues are dealt with in a way which empowers service users to make choices about how their concerns are handled and in accordance with the Local Authority Social Services and National Health Service Complaints (England) Regulations 2009.

The CCG complaints approach is structured around the 'My Expectations' report, published by the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman, Local Government Ombudsman and Healthwatch. This report sets out a best practice framework to support a positive experience for people raising concerns and complaints in five steps, also known as '1 statements':

- Considering a complaint: ensuring people are given information about how to complain, that they will be supported to do so and care will not be compromised.
- Making a complaint: ensuring all staff can help, and that making a complaint is easy and convenient.
- Staying informed: keeping people up to date and making the response personal.
- Receiving outcomes: resolving complaints and achieving an appropriate outcome.
- Reflecting on the experience: ensuring complaints are handled fairly and consistently, and that people understand how their feedback has helped to improve services.

To view the statements in full see Appendix A.

2 Definition

The CCG recognises and records feedback activity under the following categories:

- Comments: Comments may be made either verbally or in writing to any member of staff within the CCG. These may be general comments or opinions regarding NHS services, or may be specific to a particular service or area of care. Comments may offer observations or suggestions regarding services.
- Concerns: An issue raised in writing, or verbally, identifying issues about a service and/ or area of commissioning.
- Complaints: A complaint is an expression of dissatisfaction about any aspect of the CCG and its commissioned services requiring a response.
- Compliments: The CCG recognises that compliments are also a valuable source of feedback. Positive feedback received regarding services can provide an opportunity to acknowledge improvements and successes, to recognise good practise and to apply this across other areas.

3 Purpose

The purpose of this document is to outline the CCG's complaints policy to ensure that the CCG meets its statutory obligations under the Local Authority Social Services and National Health Services Complaints (England) Regulations 2009. This policy aims to ensure the following:

- To provide a clear, simple and easy to understand process for managing complaints which is fair and impartial, widely publicised and accessible to all
- To ensure complainants and staff are provided with the necessary guidance and support
- The causes of complaints and lessons learned are identified and utilised to improve services and prevent recurrence
- Complaints are managed promptly and efficiently, and answers or explanations are provided quickly and within established time limits
- Complainants are treated courteously and sympathetically and care is not adversely affected as a result of having made a complaint.

4 Scope

This policy applies to all complaints, comments, concerns and compliments received by the CCG and must be followed by all staff employed by the CCG, including those employed as part of a temporary or honorary contract, agency/bank staff, students and volunteers or any other person that is acting on behalf of the CCG. Providers of CCG commissioned services must ensure that they have robust policies and procedures in place to support patients, carers and their families.

Under the Local Authority Social Services and National Health Service Complaints (England) Regulations 2009 complainants have the choice of making a complaint to either the provider or the commissioner of services.

5 Exceptions

In accordance with the NHS Complaints regulations 2009 the following complaints will not be dealt with under this policy:

- A complaint made by a local authority, NHS body, Primary Care provider or independent provider
- A complaint made by an employee of a local authority or NHS body about any matter relating to employment
- A complaint which is made orally and is resolved to the complainants satisfaction no later than the next working day after the day on which the complaint was made
- A complaint which is the same as a complaint that has previously been made and resolved
- A complaint which has previously been investigated under the 2004, 2006 or 2009 regulations
- A complaint which has been investigated by a Health Service Commissioner under the 1993 Act
- A complaint arising out of the alleged failure by the organisation to comply with a request for information under the Freedom of Information act 2000

Where a complaint is not to be investigated under the NHS Complaints Regulations 2009, where possible the complainant will be signposted appropriately to progress their concern.

Complaints should be submitted to the CCG no later than 12 months after the subject of the complaint matter occurred or realising that there was something to complain about. This is at the discretion of the Head of Governance in accordance with the CCG Accountable Officer and can be extended in exceptional circumstances. A decision not to extend beyond this period will be confirmed in writing with an explanation.

6 Duties and Responsibilities

Accountable Officer

The Accountable Officer has overall responsibility for the complaints process and for ensuring compliance with current regulation. The Accountable Officer is also responsible for approving and signing all complaint response letters or appointing an appropriate deputy.

Directors/managers

CCG Directors and managers are responsible for investigating formal complaints about their services/area of work within an agreed timescale and for ensuring that staff actively engage in the complaints process and supporting investigations when required. Line managers are required to support their staff during the complaints process.

Staff

All staff have a responsibility to report all feedback in accordance with this policy and have a duty to their patients, employer and fellow colleagues to co-operate fully with an investigation to ensure the most appropriate outcome.

Staff should actively encourage all individuals to feed back their experiences, including raising concerns and complaints where appropriate, to support the continuous improvement to services and to inform the CCG commissioning intentions.

The Complaints Team (City Wide Governance Team)

The Complaints Team is responsible for ensuring the CCG has a robust system and process in place to ensure effective complaints management which is in line with national legislation. The team will support the investigation process and liaise with other staff members to provide appropriate advice around complaints and concerns when required.

The Complaints Team has responsibility for administering and managing all complaints centrally, acknowledging all complaints within the statutory 3 working days and is responsible for all aspects of the complaints process.

The team is responsible for ensuring that the Complaints Policy and associated procedures are followed, and that complaints are actioned in line with this document. The team will also ensure that the policy and procedures are regularly reviewed and updated.

The group consists of:

- NHS Leeds and York Partnership Foundation Trust
- NHS Leeds Teaching Hospital Trust
- NHS Leeds Community Healthcare Trust
- Leeds City Council
- Healthwatch Leeds

The group provides learning, expertise and sharing of good practice, identifying information and processes that can be improved through joint work and learning together

7 Process and Procedures for Handling Complaints – Local Resolution

In line with the NHS Complaints Regulations 2009 complainants should be offered a choice of raising their concerns, or making a formal complaint to either the service provider directly, or the commissioner. All avenues must be explored to resolve issues at local level, including a review of the complaint, if the complainant is not initially happy with the outcome.

A complaint can be made orally, in writing or electronically. If a verbal complaint is received the staff member should establish whether it is a matter that they, a colleague, line manager or the PALS team can respond to immediately. If the verbal complaint is able to be resolved to the complainant's satisfaction within one working day then this will not be recorded as a formal complaint but the complaints team must still be notified so that the concern can be documented. If a verbal complaint is a formal complaint then the member of staff receiving the complaint must make a written record of the complaint and provide a copy to the complaints team as soon as possible.

All staff must ensure that complaints are sent to the complaints team as soon as they are received. All complaints, comments, concerns and compliments can be sent to:

Email: Leeds.complaints@nhs.net

Address: CCG Complaints Team
FREEPOST RTEG-JRZR-CLZG
Suites 2-4 WIRA House
Ring Road West Park
Leeds
LS16 6EB

Telephone: 0113 8435236

All contacts will be acknowledged within 3 working days of receipt. Following receipt, the complaints team, in discussion with the complainant, will agree:

- The manner in which the complaint is to be handled, including an offer to meet the patient if appropriate;
- The timescale for providing a response;
- The desired outcomes from raising their complaint.

An overview of the complaints process can be seen in appendix B.

Should the complainant wish to meet with the complaints team to discuss the contents of their complaint this will be arranged. All meetings are to be held on CCG premises with two members of the complaints team present. This meeting will be documented and a copy of this shared with the complainant.

If the content of a complaint highlights serious concerns which meet the criteria of the NHS Serious Incident Framework 2015, the complaint will be investigated under the serious incident policy and the complainant informed. If a safeguarding concern is identified, then advice will be sought from the CCG Head of Safeguarding with a view to ensuring the safety and best interests of the patient.

Where a complainant indicates they intend to take legal action, the matter should be referred to the Head of Governance, to ensure due consideration and collaboration with relevant individuals. If there is no indication that a complaint investigation will prejudice any legal proceedings, the complaint will be registered and dealt with through the complaints process. However, in some circumstances it may be appropriate to cease action under the complaints procedure. This is consistent with national guidance.

Unreasonable complaints

The CCG recognises that it is the right of every individual to pursue a complaint. However, on occasions, staff may consider that a complaint is unreasonable e.g. the complainant raises the same issues repeatedly despite having received a comprehensive response, or the complainant becomes aggressive, threatening, abusive or violent towards those involved in the complaints process. If it is considered that a complainant is becoming unreasonable, the member of staff should refer this to the Head of Governance who will manage the situation in accordance with the Unreasonable Complaints Procedure.

Confidentiality

Complaints will be handled in the strictest confidence at all times and in accordance with the CCGs information governance policies. Where it is necessary to seek input from organisations external to the CCG, written consent from the patient should be obtained prior to sharing any information. If consent cannot be determined, following multiple attempts, the complaint will be closed pending further contact.

Information will only be disclosed to those individuals who are investigating the complaint or have been asked to provide a statement directly in relation to the contents of the complaint. Information will not be disclosed to patients or complainants unless the person has given written explicit consent to the disclosure of that information. In the case of a complaint raised by a third party (e.g. family member, carer, MP, representative) including those regarding a patient who has died or who lacks capacity, the representative must be a relative or other person who had or has a sufficient interest in the patient's welfare and is a suitable person to act as representative. If a complainant is the parent or guardian of a child under the age of 18 (to whom the complaint relates) the staff member must be satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for the complaint being made by the representative instead of the child. Every case should be considered on an individual basis before a response is provided, and where possible evidence, such as identification or legal documents, will be required.

There may be instances where the investigation of a complaint reveals further information of a particularly sensitive nature that the individual could feel uncomfortable being disclosed to third parties. Where explicit consent to reveal such information is not already present, complaints made by representatives, including MPs, may require the CCG to gain written consent from the patient prior to sharing confidential or personal information.

There are some instances where the CCG is required to disclose patient information without consent to the appropriate body e.g. safeguarding, police or a senior person involved in providing their health care. This must be conducted in accordance with current data protection legislation and may involve:

- cases where the law requires disclosure of information which will be:
 - if the health and/or welfare of a child or young person is at risk.

- if your complainant admits to committing a serious crime.
- whereby an individual may be put at significant risk or their life threatened.

Prior to any disclosure where consent has not been provided the CCG Caldicott Guardian must be consulted and recorded within the Caldicott Log (held by the Caldicott Guardian). Following disclosure a written explanation to the person involved must be provided. Information governance advice may be sought from the Associate Information Governance Specialist.

8 Investigation and Response

The CCG will investigate a complaint in a manner appropriate to resolve it as quickly and efficiently as possible after receiving the complaint. The complaint must be carried out by someone not directly involved in the events leading to the complaint. The complaints team will keep the complainant informed throughout the investigation process as far as reasonably practicable informing the complainant of any delays.

Where a complaint involves more than one organisation it will be agreed at the beginning of the process as to which organisation will manage and coordinate the complaint. This is usually the organisation that has the majority of issues, or the highest risk issues. The lead organisation will coordinate a single comprehensive investigation and response to the complaint, as set out in the Complaints Inter-Agency Protocol and the Local Authority Social Services and National Health Service Complaints (England) Regulations 2009.

The CCG has contracts in place with multiple providers and under the 2009 Regulations a patient can choose to approach either the provider or the commissioner to make a complaint. If a complaint received by the CCG concerns a commissioned service the complaints team, in discussion with the complainant, will decide who the most appropriate body is to handle the complaint. It is not possible to raise the same complaint with the service provider as well as the commissioning organisation.

Following the completion of the investigation and within the timescales agreed with the complainant, the complaints team will send a formal response in writing to the complainant, signed by the Accountable Officer which will include:

- An explanation of how the complaint was considered
- Honest explanations based on facts and where it is clear that there has been a mistake or failure in procedures, this should be clearly stated and an apology given, in line with the duty of candour
- The conclusions reached including any remedial action that the organisation considers to be appropriate
- Clearly demonstrate how the complaint and findings have improved services or invoked changes
- Invitation for the complainant to contact the complaints team if they have any outstanding concerns

- The complainants right to ask the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman to review their complaint, if they are dissatisfied with the CCGs response
- Following a response being offered, the CCG will actively seek feedback from complainants regarding their experience of making a complaint, which will be recorded and used to inform future policy and process change.

Support to staff

All statements, letters, phone calls and actions taken in an investigation must be documented and kept in the complaint file. Members of staff that are named within a complaint should be informed of the complaint by their line manager. Staff should be fully supported by their line manager and consulted during the investigation. The investigation must be full, fair and timely and should not apportion blame. The CCG actively promotes positive attitudes towards dealing with complaints.

9 Final Stage: Independent Review

If a complainant remains dissatisfied with the response gained at a local resolution stage they can ask the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman (PHSO) to review the case. The PHSO may review a complaint where:

- A complainant is not satisfied with the result of the investigation undertaken by the CCG
- The complainant is not satisfied with the response and does not believe the CCG has resolved their concerns
- The CCG has decided not to investigate a complaint on the grounds that it was not made within the required time limit.

Complainants must have complained to the CCG or service provider involved before contacting the PHSO. The PHSO require that a complaint is referred within a year after the day on which the complainant first identified the issue, unless the PHSO considers that it is reasonable to review the complaint outside of this timescale.

Upon request, the complaints team will provide copies of all records and correspondence relating to the complaint and co-operate fully with the PHSO, informing the relevant Director that a request has been received.

If a complaint is upheld by the PHSO, the complaints team will co-ordinate any points of action required, in collaboration with either the relevant Director or Head of Service to ensure that actions are completed and a response is provided within the set deadline established by the PHSO.

10 Ensuring Learning

Learning from complaints is critical to the delivery of safe and effective services within the CCG. Each complaint is an opportunity to improve services and must be used as an opportunity for learning and improvement.

The complaints team will record the conclusion, lessons learned and agreed actions for each complaint, comment or concern and the area it relates to prior to closing the complaint file. This ensures any themes or emerging trends can be identified.

Themes and trends for complaints are regularly reviewed within the CCG via regular reports to the Assurance or Quality Committee and a number of patient groups. These themes and trends, in a non-identifiable format, are also shared with relevant provider organisations as well as via the Leeds City-Wide complaints forum.

Compliments received within the CCG are used to inform good practice which can be applied to other areas to support service development.

11 Reporting Requirements

The complaints team will produce quarterly and annual reports on complaints comments and concerns. These will provide an overview of the numbers and types of feedback received across the CCGs, including information relating to the theme/subject of the complaint, and the service area to which the complaint relates. These enable any emergent themes and trends to be identified, and appropriately escalated. Details of formal complaints are also reported within the CCG annual report.

On quarterly basis information relating to complaints, including equality data, is provided to the Health and Social Care Information Centre (HSCIC) in line with national requirements.

The CCG receive and review regular complaints reports from the providers of its commissioned services. These are reviewed within the relevant joint provider and CCG Quality Meetings and data is triangulated to provide a detailed understanding of patient experience within Leeds.

12 Compliments

The complaints team maintain a record of all letters of praise and compliments received. Compliments about healthcare services, or a specific individual received within the CCG are shared with the relevant organisation, team, or individual and are included within the regular reports. Compliments are an effective source for informing service improvement and for sharing best practice.

13 Implementation and Training

The CCG will ensure that all staff are aware of this policy and the supporting procedures and have access to the associated documents. To support staff the complaints process forms part of the CCG induction programme and on-going training is available.

14 Monitoring Compliance and Effectiveness

The complaint process will be monitored by the complaints team to review the effectiveness of the process as well as how information about complaints is being used to improve services. The complaints team will ensure:

- This policy and relevant processes remain in line with current legislation and guidance, and continue to reflect models of best practise.
- The policy remains up to date and continues to represent the practise of staff dealing with complaints, concerns, comments and feedback. Any changes to the process should be reflected within the policy.
- The policy continues to place the patient first and that feedback and suggestions from complainants regarding the complaints process are used to inform and continually improve the process.

15 Equality Impact Assessment (EIA)

All NHS organisations are required to record the demographic data of complainants. The collection of such data is valuable in gauging fair and equal access to health care across ethnic groups. There is no obligation on patients or staff members to respond to questions relating to their demographic details, however, the reasons for collecting this data are fully explained.

This policy has been assessed to ensure consideration has been given to the actual or potential impacts on staff, certain communities or population groups, appropriate action has been taken to mitigate or eliminate the negative impacts and maximise the positive impacts and that the and that the implementation plans are appropriate and proportionate.

The equality impact assessment for this policy can be found below. The CCG will monitor any themes and trends to identify, understand and address complaints linked to a particular location, staff group or individual with an Equality Act 2010 “protected characteristic” (age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation).
